5 KILLED; 26 ESCAPE IN TWO AIR CRASHES

Bomber, Commercial Transport Fall Within 40 Minutes of Each Other.

By The Associated Press

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Oct. 12—Two plane crashes eight miles apart in a pea soup fog last midnight killed all five aboard an army bomber but spared 26 persons who crawled from a blazing Eastern Air Lines DC 4.

The planes, attempting to land under a 300-foot ceiling, struck within 40 minutes of each other in the scrub pine countryside, a few miles south of Washington.

Eye-witnesses said the DC 4, enroute from Miami to New York via Atlanta, apparently hit a farmer's lumber pile as the pilot groped blindly through the dense fog for a landing. The ship careened against a well house, ripped into a 2,300-volt high tension power line crashed in a valley and burst into flames.

"It was incredible that anybody got out alive," said one of the first persons to reach the scene.

Wings Ripped Off

"The plane's wings were ripped off and the cabin fuselage was burning furiously halfway down the hill. Part of a wing lay 1,000 feet away on the hilltop. One of the plane's four motors was 500 feet off to the side. Little pieces of steel were scattered all over the field."

One by one the stewardess, Miss Betty Camera, 26, Allentown, Pa., checked off the 21 adult passengers as they emerged from the escape hatch of the flaming fuselage. Then she shepherded them to the top of the hill for safety in case of an explosion.

Mrs. Marvin Edwards of Sweetboro, N. J. came out with her shoes torn off by the plane's impact, but with her 10-month-old son safe in her arms.

The pilot, Capt. Joe S. Morris, of Miami, stepped dazedly from the plane after the passengers had got out and said:

"I'm all right. I was right on the beam . . ."

Gushes Blood

Then he began to gush blood from the mouth. Capt. Morris and his co-pilot, P. K. Zepernick, also of Miami, were reported by Eastern Air Lines officials to have been the only ones injured.

All the others, including Miss Camera and Purser John Johnson, of Jacksonville, went on to New York.

In the night's first and more tragic accident, the B-25 army plane was en route from Langley Field, Va., to Andrews Field, Md.

At 11:26 p. m., the army craft reported heavy fog and asked permission to land at National Airport, Washington, or at the Navy's Bolling Field, across the Potomac river. Told another plane was coming in to land, the B-25 circled away. It crashed in a wooded area about six miles south of the airport.

Farmers living in the isolated area said they heard the plane circling about three or four times "and then suddenly it blew up in the air."

MEAT MAIN DISH ON OHIO POLITICAL MENU

By The Associated Press

Beefsteak and porkchops — savory memories of most Ohioans—continued Saturday to be a main dish on the state's political campaign menu.

U. S. Sen. James W. Huffman, Democratic candidate for reelection, returned to Ohio from Washington where he said he suggested to President Truman a free market in meat "if the facts warrant."

Huffman, who is campaigning against former Gov. John W. Bricker, Republican, said he did not discuss Ohio politics at the White House but was confident Ohio voters would disregard "temporary difficulties" in casting their ballots.

"I am in favor of decontrol of meat at once," he told reporters, "if the facts warrant; but we should not demand decontrol at any cost. After all, we still have the threat of inflation that would exist in the event of runaway prices."

At Marietta Friday night Thomas J. Herbert, Republican candidate for governor, repeated before a party rally his charge that an investigation of the meat shortage in Ohio by his Democratic opponent, Gov. Lausche, was a part of "constant publicity stunts and headline hunts (that) are getting monotonous."

Governor Lausche delivered a non-political speech at Hiram Friday night before a northeast Ohio Community Institute audience of about 600. He declared increased juvenile delinquency was traceable directly to "adult delinquency" and both were due in part to public officials who ignore gambling, illicit liquor operations and other conditions contributing to moral laxity.

Community Foundation To Aid Men of U. S. Merchant Marine

This is one of a series of articles to be published in The Star to acquaint its readers with activities of the Marion Community Foundation, which will conduct its annual fund campaign Oct. 21-31. The campaign goal is $67,190. Your fair share is a day's pay.

The United Seamen's Service, Inc., a national organization with headquarters in New York City dedicated to the job of providing some measure of comfort and recreation for the men of the Merchant Marine, is represented in this year's Marion Community Foundation drive to raise $67,190.

This agency asked for a contribution from Marion county to help carry on its program, and received a $100 allocation from the budget committee. It will automatically receive this amount—the smallest allocation in the budget this year—if the Foundation's drive is successful.

Merchant seamen get a variety of services from this organization. Campaign officials explained that its functions mean to merchant seamen what the USO means to the men in military service. Like the job of the USO, the task of this organization did not end with the cessation of hostilities.

The United Seamen's Service is making its final general fund appeal this year. Should the work of the organization be continued beyond 1947, financial support will come mainly from seaport communities and from maritime management and labor. Seaport cities are currently carrying the bulk of the expense of its program.

Scouts Will Pay Tribute Sunday At Harding Tomb

President Warren G. Harding's memory will be honored tomorrow by a pilgrimage of more than 1,000 Boy and Girl Scouts to the Harding Memorial where wreaths will be placed on the graves of the late president and his wife.

It will be the fifteenth annual Harding Memorial pilgrimage.

A procession will be held from Central Junior High school to the Harding tomb via West Center and South Main streets and Delaware avenue.

Col. B. M. Crenshaw, deputy post commander from Fort Hayes in Columbus, will lay a wreath from the President of the United States on the tomb, and Boy and Girl Scouts, representing their organizations, will also place wreaths.

The Harding High school band will play. Bernard Amrine is grand marshal.

Following the ceremony, refreshments will be served Boy Scouts on the grounds of the Harding home on Mt. Vernon avenue. The Girl Scouts will return to Epworth Methodist church where tea will be served.

D. A. V. Flower Sale Delayed One Week

The forget-me-not sale which was to have been held this weekend by Marion Chapter No. 22, Disabled American Veterans, was postponed until next Friday and Saturday, Oct. 18-19, because of unfavorable weather, it was announced today. The Ladies' Auxiliary of the D.A.V. will conduct the sale in the downtown district beginning at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon. It will continue until 9 p. m. Friday and through next Saturday.

Proceeds will go toward the rehabilitation of all disabled veterans. Headquarters will be in the sheriff's office in the courthouse. Chairmen for the drive are Minor Hart, Arden Rizer and William Kehrwecker.

HOTEL STRIKE IN WASHINGTON ADDS TO TOTAL

New Walkout Comes as Negotiators Battle Throughout America.

By The Associated Press

A strike by 5,000 AFL employes in 18 of Washington's leading hotels inconvenienced thousands today as efforts continued to settle other top labor disputes throughout the country.

Picket lines were set up around some of the capital's finest hotels as waiters, chambermaids, elevator operators, telephone girls, porters, bellhops, cooks, kitchen workers and bartenders left their jobs in a wage dispute.

It was self-service for the guests who made their own beds, carried their own bags and trudged up long flights of stairs to their rooms unless non-striking white collar help took over operation of elevators.

Ask Wage Boost

The unions asked wage hikes of 15 cents an hour for employes who do not receive tips and 10 cents for those who do. The Hotel association representing the 18 hotels offered 5 and 2½ cents hourly, while a government conciliator proposed a compromise at eight and four cents which the unions accepted and the hotels rejected. The present wages vary widely by classification of work.

There was a possibility of resumption of negotiations in the 12-day old nuationwide maritime strike after CIO Marine Engineers proposed to negotiate an immediate contract with the East-Gulf coast operators. Earlier they had held out for a national agreement unless the maritime commission would make an advance commitment that terms of any eastern contract also would apply to government-owned vessels on the West Coast. It was not determined immediately if the operators would accept the union offer.

The union proposal followed a break-down of government sponsored negotiations in Washington. The strike has tied up more than 600 ships on all coasts. The CIO union and the AFL Masters, Mates and Pilots have sought wage increases of 35 and 30 per cent, respectively.

Pittsburgh Strikes Continue

Pittsburgh's power and hotel strikes continued. Representatives of four unions and the Duquesne Light Co. planned to meet with national labor relations board officials to plan an election which will decide the collective bargaining agency of 1,700 striking company workers.

The independent power union, whose 3,200 members quit work 19 days ago in support of wage hikes of 20 per cent, is one of the four unions which are to appear on the ballot. The others are district 50 of the AFL United Mine Workers; the AFL-International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, and the CIO-Utility Workers of America. Each of the unions claims it has enrolled a majority of the 1,700 as members.

Meanwhile, negotiations to end the power walkout continued but there was no progress. There were similar reports from many other cities where strikes have been in progress for nearly two weeks. These included a tieup of street cars in Columbus, O., bus and electric train shutdowns in Chicago and the AFL jurisdictional dispute at Hollywood movie studios.

MICHEL AND DAVIS IN LAW PARTNERSHIP

William Kay Davis, Marion attorney, has become a partner in Donithen and Michel law firm, which in the future will be known as Donithen, Michel and Davis, according to an announcement today from Paul D. Michel, other member of the partnership.

Mr. Davis, who began practicing law here in 1930 following his graduation from Ohio State university, will replace the late H. Alfred Donithen as a member of the firm.

Mr. Davis served four years in the Army, enlisting in 1942 and serving 10 months as an enlisted man. He was then commissioned and assigned to the judge advocate general's department and sent to the Judge Advocate General's school at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor. He served for one year as staff judge advocate at Camp Breckinridge, Ky. before going overseas as one of three officers of the contract and Foreign claims commission appointed by General MacArthur in 1944. He was stationed in the Philippines. When discharged last April he held the rank of major, and since then has been practicing law here.

Mr. Michel, a graduate of Ohio Northern university, began practicing law here in January 1929 with the late Hoke W. Donithen, his uncle. After the death of his uncle he formed a partnership with the late H. Alfred Donithen. He served as prosecuting attorney of Marion county from 1935 to 1941.

U. S. TO POLICE HOMES OFFERED TO VETERANS

Campaign Announced by Porter to Begin Monday.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12—OPA Administrator Paul Porter announced today the government will start a new campaign on Monday to police newly-built homes or apartments offered for sale or rent to veterans.

In a joint broadcast with housing expediter Wilson W. Wyatt, Porter said the OPA's 550 rent control offices, aided by other government agencies, will see that "the veteran gets first crack at new housing."

Porter emphasized that dwellings under construction must be posted with a "big sign" saying they are held for veterans, and warned that "even criminal penalties may be imposed" in cases of flagrant violation.

"We are also going to check official ceiling sales prices and rents with the prices and rents that veterans tell us they are actually paying," he added.

100,000 CATTLE ROAM ON THIS GRAZING LOT. While administration circles strongly intimated that President Truman will recommend termination of government price control over the livestock industry, CIO Packinghouse Workers' Union officials were in Washington, charging that cattle are being kept off the market by "meat" speculators for "political considerations" as part of a wholesale attack on price ceilings and to combat wage demands of the union. The union president and secretary furthered their charges by showing pictures like the one above which was taken on the grazing lots near Omaha, Neb. (International Soundphoto)

1,000 Brave New York Rain for Sunday Meat

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 12—Outside a Manhattan meat market today stood a line of more than 1,000 wet and weary people, many of whom had been camped there since 9 p. m. last night in response to the lure of meat for Sunday dinner.

The store was one of the few in the city that had meat. Through the grapevine of the meat hungry public, word went around that the store would have a good supply today and people came from all over the city.

Early birds brought stools, chairs or boxes, blankets and thermos jugs. Through the night some played gin rummy and pinochle. Husbands and wives alternated in the line so they could catch a few winks of sleep.

CHANGES PLEA IN RICHWOOD SLAYING

Mayhugh Pleads Guilty to Charge of Manslaughter.

Special to The Star

MARYSVILLE, Oct. 12 — Preparations for Union county's first murder trial since 1900 were abruptly halted late yesterday when Robert Mayhugh, 72, of Richwood, pleaded guilty before Judge Richard Cameron in common pleas court to a charge of manslaughter for the death of Dwight McElroy, 38, of Richwood.

Mayhugh was to have gone on trial here Monday on a first degree murder indictment returned by the Union county grand jury. Yesterday afternoon defense attorneys presented evidence of mitigating circumstances in the case to Judge Cameron and he accepted a plea of guilty to manslaughter. Sentence will be pronounced Tuesday.

The shooting, an outgrowth of a quarrel between Mayhugh and McElroy, occurred in Richwood July 21. Mayhugh was reported to have fired one shot from a revolver that killed McElroy as the latter was sitting in Mayhugh's automobile while it was parked in front of Mayhugh's rooming house. Mayhugh claimed self defense.

United Lutherans Hold Out Hand to Veterans

Special to The Star

CLEVELAND, Oct. 12 — The United Lutheran church held out its hand to war veterans today to "help lead the world to the dawn of a new day of Christian brotherhood and peace."

In its final biennial convention session last night, the church group passed a resolution calling on former members of the armed services to "give themselves sacrificially in that continuing total warfare of Jesus Christ."

Earlier, Dr. John J. Sherer Jr., Richmond, Va., pastor told how 50 veterans in his congregation had more than doubled attendance at his church by visiting inactive and prospective members.

Their efforts were so successful, he reported, that standing room wasn't even available at the church last Sunday.

4 OHIOANS HELD IN CAR BLACK MARKET

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O., Oct. 12 — Four Ohioans were under federal charges today in connection with what an OPA enforcement attorney described as a black market ring with ramifications from coast to coast.

Charged with conspiring to violate OPA ceilings on used cars were:

Robert W. Watkins, president of Mayflower Motors, Inc., of Akron; Ralph Gerrard, of Westerville, O., identified in a court affidavit as an agent of Watkins; and three Columbus men, Jennings Miller, Herbert Leist and a third man whose name was withheld pending his arrest.

Watkins was arrested in Akron while the other two were taken into custody in Columbus.

Albert S. Giles, chief enforcement attorney for the OPA's Cincinnati office, accompanied deputies who arrested Watkins and said "Thousands of cars in this area have been sold at black market prices. This ring has ramifications from coast to coast."

Wittred's Condition Remains Critical

The condition of William Ernest Wittred, unconscious since he was overcome by gas fumes in his trailer home at the Tolver Adams farm east of Marion Wednesday, remains critical, it was reported from City hospital today. His wife, Mrs. Geraldine S. Wittred, also a victim of the gas fumes, died in the hospital Thursday without regaining consciousness.

U. S. Ready To Back Transfer of Czech Territory to Hungary

By The Associated Press

PARIS, Oct. 10—Lt. Gen. Walter B. Smith told the peace conference today that the United States was ready to back the transfer of some Magyar-populated areas of Czechoslovakia to defeated Hungary if necessary.

Smith, the U. S. ambassador to Russia, said the United States would support Czechoslavakia's compromise proposal to transfer 200,000 Magyars from Czech territory to Hungary through a bilateral agreement.

"Every effort should be made," Gen. Smith declared, "through minor territorial changes if necessary, to reduce to the minimum the number of people forced to leave their ancestral homes" under such an agreement.

Sandwiched in Slav Talks

Smith's statement was sandwiched between a string of Slav speeches which opened plenary session debate on the peace pact for Hungary—the fourth of five treaties to be considered. Slav delegates urged Hungary to join more solidly with the Slav-Danubian group of states.

Once Hungary is dealt with, only the treaty with Finland will remain to be read, threshed out and approved before the full conference can turn five treaty texts over to the Big Four foreign ministers for final action.

Treaties with Italy, Romania and Bulgaria have been completed since final plenary sessions of the conference began Monday, with delegates winding up action on the Bulgarian treaty at 1:15 a. m. today, in the third consecutive after midnight session.

Over Russian opposition and splitting, 15 to 6, on east-west lines, the conference wrote into the Bulgarian treaty—as it had into the Romanian—a clause to throw the Danube river basin open to world shipping.

One big question was left for the foreign ministers — whether Bulgaria's border with Greece should be fixed along the line of January, 1941. Nine nations favored; 12 disapproved.

Greece had asked to move her border northward for strategic reasons. Bulgaria had sought a Thracian corridor to the Aegean sea through Greek territory.

The vote was regarded as at least a temporary—and certainly a surprising—victory for Greece, since it left the way open for continued efforts to win border territory from Bulgaria.

The nations voted, 12 to 6, with the three abstentions, to require Bulugaria to defortify whatever boundary is established with Greece.

The delegates voted $125,000,000 in Bulgarian reparations, to be paid to Greece and Yugoslavia in equal shares within six years in farm products, coal, livestock and railroad equipment.

Bulgaria's liability for restitution for allied property seized or damaged in the war was fixed at 75 per cent of the full value.

Bulgaria was limited to an army of 56,000 men, a navy of 3,500 men and 7,200 tons of shipping and an airforce of 5,200 men, 70 combat planes and 20 transport planes.

Butter Prices Quoted at Over $1 a Pound

Several Marion groceries were reported today to be selling butter at more than $1 a pound. At one grocery butter was quoted at $1.02 and at another, $1.05, and there were reports that at some stores the price was even higher.

Marion grocers said the price was the highest they could remember.

DRAFT HOLIDAY FOR 25,000

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 — An army draft holiday of two and a half months, beginning next Wednesday, will affect more than 25,000 men. Its recruiting drive producing "favorable results," the war department notified selective service that about 30,000 men called up for induction in the last half of October, and a November quota of 18,000 men, are not needed. There will be no December quota. The army's campaign for recruits has produced nearly 1,000,000 men.

COLUMBUS STRIKE PARLEY BROKEN OFF

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 12 — An abrupt break-off of company-union negotiations left walkweary state capital citizens discouraged today over prospects of settling a 12-day-old strike by bus and streetcar operators and maintenance men.

Conferences between representatives of the CIO Transport Workers Union and the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. had been held daily during the strike, with night sessions during most of the past week, but yesterday, Federal Conciliator H. J. Montoney declared:

"The parties are in complete deadlock on union shop and wage issues. Negotiations have been broken off indefinitely."

The union is asking 30-cent-an-hour wage increases for operators who averaged $50.68 a week before the strike and worked up to 51 hours a week without overtime. The company has agreed to a compromise on a union demand for a 48-hour week, but has held firmly to a pay boost offer of eight cents more an hour.

STABILIZATION PLANNING TO BE DISCUSSED

15-Minute Speech To Cover All Phases of Government Program.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12—President Truman will make a radio speech on meat and the stabilization program at 10 p. m. eastern standard time Monday.

The White House, making this announcement today, said the President will speak over all radio networks for about 15 minutes.

Charles G. Ross, press secretary, said the President would speak "on the stabilization program."

"Does that mean meat?" he was asked.

"Meat, of course, is part of the program," Ross replied.

Indicates Decision

The decision to speak indicated the Chief Executive had reached or was about to reach a decision for action concerning the long standing meat shortage, after several days of lengthy cabinet meetings.

Earlier, with Mr. Truman pondering arguments for or against easing or dropping meat controls, a high official had said the Chief Executive will decide "very soon."

The President will speak from the oval room in the basement of the White House.

Ross would not say definitely whether Mr. Truman had made a decision on what steps he will take, but indicated plainly that it will have been reached by the time the President goes on the air.

One indication that an announcement is near came as the agricultural department rushed work on an answer to the beef industry's formal petition for removal of ceilings.

May Reply Today

Secretary Anderson said yesterday he might be ready with a reply to the packers today. What it is may be disclosed by Mr. Truman.

One official said he believes Mr. Truman is inclined toward some modification of the present meat control program, presumably involving higher ceilings or perhaps a certificate plan insuring against a long-run profit loss on livestock.

Another official said he got the impression the President is opposed to a middle-ground program of this kind.

When a reporter noted that left outright decontrol or retention of the present price lids as the only alternative, the official replied:

"That's right."

Imported Meat Discussed

It is known, however, that the possibility of importing meat to help ease the shortage was one of the points discussed by the cabinet.

Given most consideration was whether to bring in fresh meat from Argentina, a course which would require removal of a ban imposed because of a hoof and mouth disease threat. Argentina already has offered to ship 4,000,000 pounds of canned meat, which is not covered by the ban.

These proposals prompted sharp criticism on both the political and industry fronts.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) termed the suggested importation of Argentine beef "shocking." He added in a statement:

"The possible destruction of the livestock business in the U. S. would be of little importance compared to losing an election."

"Unfortunate Solution"

Wilbur LaRoe, speaking for the National Independent Meat Packers association, told a reporter that acceptance of the Argentine offer would be a "most unfortunate solution" to the problem.

While the controversy over the current shortage ban on, the agricultural department came up with a report indicating that housewives may fare some better at butcher shops in the months ahead.

The department's bureau of economics said that during the three months ending Oct. 1 shipments of stocker and feeder cattle into 11 midwestern corn belt states were 36 per cent greater than during the corresponding period last year.

These are cattle which will go to the slaughter market during the coming winter, spring and summer. They are grain-fed and usually provide a better grade of meat than grass-fed animals.

Plan for Compactly Built Home Provides for Later Additions

YOUR HOME TODAY and TOMORROW

by W. Wadsworth Wood

Shore House

The coast lines, the river fronts, the bays and inlets, and the inland lakes of this country present thousands of miles of waterfront which afford ideal settings for temporary or permanent homes. Most of the medium-priced houses follow a rather patterned design, as though the owners were content with a tight roof, a bed and a bath. Of late, however, there have been quite a few departures from drab tradition, and several of the latest designs in water-front homes are worth serious consideration.

One of the best examples of this new trend is found in the use of Mediterranean or Moorish design for the exterior, and the use of practically every labor-saving and material saving device known to modern building. Such houses are most appropriate for the water-front and entirely correct in any temperate climate. All of them are expandable, basementless, and thoroughly modern.

The house shown here is one of the best. The walls are of cinder block, heavily stuccoed. The roof is flat, but has an eight-inch pitch from the front to the rear wall so as to provide good drainage and save the expense of the costly parapet-wall roof construction. The timbers used in the roof and the sheathing over them is practically the only wood used in the construction. The cinder block is exposed inside and whitewashed, saving the great expense of interior wall finish, as well as carrying out an authentic style. Glass block panels are set wherever light is most desired. Standard steel factory sash has been used for windows with splendid effect. There are no wood floors in the house. The concrete insulated slab on which it is built has been painted and waxed after it was marked off in a tile pattern.

The interior arrangements are unique. Both bathroom and kitchen are extremely compact so as simple and well lighted, and the as to save space for the more important living room. The bedroom unusual entrance plan gives the impression of great size to what is actually a small house.

An unusual feature of this house is that the design provides for a complete second story in the future, which will involve no major structural changes to the first floor other than the installation of a stairway. As an alternate to this plan, the builder could elect to use an outside stairway, which would be in typical Moorish style.

FIRST AID TO AILING HOUSE

—By ROGER C. WHITMAN—

Papering Plasterboard Walls

Q. Our interior walls are plasterboard, four by eight feet. Would it be possible to paper the walls and ceiling with knotty pine wallpaper and then varnish it? Or would it be better to paint this type of plasterboard?

A. You can hang wallpaper on the plasterboard after the proper preparations. The joints should be closed according to the manufacturer's instructions, which you can get from your dealer. Give the board a coat of either thin paint or varnish; this will make the cardboard covering water resistant, so that when you need to repaper, the old paper can be removed without too much damage to the board. The board should have a coat of glue sizing before hanging the wallpaper. It would be well to varnish the knotty pine wallpaper, but I do not believe you would like the effect of the same paper on the ceiling. An off-white paint would look better.

Moldy Windows

Q. Although we have storm sash on all windows, they are all moldy, especially on the north side of the house. Can you tell us how to correct this?

A. Mold is a sign of dampness. This may be caused by excessive moisture in the air of the house, or possibly from leakage through and around window frames. If the air of your house seems to be overcharged with moisture, you should look for the cause and correct the condition. A carpenter could examine the window frames on the outside, and if necessary, fill any cracks in the woodwork with putty and between the frames and walls with caulking compound forced in with a caulking gun. If the woodwork of the windows is blackened by mildew, this should be scraped off down to the sound wood, and the wood refinished either with spar varnish or top quality enamel undercoater and enamel.

Insulating Question

Q. I am building a six-room Cape Cod style house with vapor-proof insulating sheating board in the outside walls, and insulation lath on the inside walls. Do you think it advisable to put insulation in the walls in addition, and if so, what type would you recommend? The house is to be a frame house, with gas heat.

A. An inch or two of any type of blanket insulation will further help reduce the heat loss through walls. I assume the attic will also be insulated.

Repair for Bridge Lamp

Q. My bridge lamp was knocked over. Some of the white metal or lead has cracked open, and I do not know how to repair it. Can you advise me?

A. A welding job might be satisfactory. Your nearby garage can give you the name of a welding shop where the work could be done. If not, you might try cementing the break with a paste made by mixing equal parts of litharge and powdered red lead, moistened with glycerine. This is slow setting, but dries very hard. Bind the pieces together tightly if possible, and do not put any strain on it for some time.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT TO ALL HOME MAKERS . . .

Soft Water
IS NOW AVAILABLE TO EVERY HOME IN MARION ON A SERVICE BASIS

At last you can have Soft Water in your home without any investment, bother or worry.

Have Wonder-Working Soft Water in Your Home . . .

Think of it! Water, softer than rain, without any trace of hardness . . . for bathing, shampooing, dishwashing, laundering, for all washing processes . . . on a Public Service Basis . . . just like electricity or the telephone. No equipment to buy . . . no work or worry on your part . . . we do everything for you!

The Savings are Greater than the Cost

When you use hard water, you pay for soft water service without having it. Make us prove to you that the savings from our service are more than twice the cost. We'll show you how softened water will save one half the soap you now use in washing with hard water . . . how your clothes will look better and wear longer . . . how your plumbing repair bills and fuel costs for heating water will be reduced. Zero soft water not only cleans the lime and rust out of your water pipes and coils, but keeps them clean.

Don't put up with hard water troubles any longer . . . have Culligan Soft Water Service installed today.

Cost Only
$2.25
Per month for the average family.

Here is our Plan—

Our business is soft water service. We install our service softener in your basement or utility room. We own the equipment and we take full care of it. It occupies only a very small space. It provides you with 100% soft water at a turn of the faucet without any investment or expense from anyone in the household. We exchange it for a fresh unit at regular intervals, connecting the cold unit at our plant, NOT at your basement.

Owners of Factory Shops, Service Parlors, Beauty Salons, Hotels and Apartment Buildings: Investigate this economical, maintenance free, proven unit in your service district. Write the Culligan Way.—The Culligan Way.

BATH—Creamy, lasting suds that make you feel really clean, yet rinse off in a jiffy, are yours with softened water in your bath. Since soft water forms no soap "curds", there is no bath tub ring to discolor the tub.

SHAMPOO—A soft water shampoo with heaps of silky suds will bring thrilling new beauty to your hair. Soap rinses out completely . . . no dull film left, just a gorgeous gleam. Dad will love his soft water shaves, too . . . and his razor blades will last for twice as many shaves.

DISHES—Scads of foamy suds whisk grease away like magic. Dishes, glasses, silver, all sparkle and gleam like new. No need to dry them with a towel . . . softened water leaves no soap scum to smear, or lime to spot.

CLOTHES—All clothes and linens wash much cleaner in soft water. No disagreeable soap curds, formed by hard water, that won't rinse out and leave washables gray and dingy looking. Clothes last longer because there's less rubbing the soft water way.

COOKING—The delicate and vegetable color in hard water make vegetables tough and dull looking. Soft water cooking results get the freshness. Soft water coffee and tea taste better and one ounce less ground. Softened water is better for drinking, too.

Fight Fire Loss with
STRAN-STEEL "QUONSET" BUILDINGS

Last year the property loss through fire in the United States was $500,000,000. On farms alone the damage was $100,000,000. And both those figures leave out the fearful cost of lost production, lost time, worry.

Stran-Steel "Quonset" buildings are framed with steel and covered with steel to help combat this destruction on the farm, in industry, in commerce. There are no inflammable beams, studs or joints to spread fire from one section to another . . . no inflammable siding or roofing to "go up in smoke."

When you need a new building, take advantage of the modern Stran-Steel "Quonset" to get one that is fire-resistant. See your [illegible] for complete information on the [illegible] "Quonset 20" and "Quonset 40." They [illegible] to all sorts of building needs.

Special Savings Accounts for Special Purposes

A new home—college—furniture—car
electric appliance—old age retirement

If saving money for the sake of saving seems too dull and purposeless, why not set up a series of goals in budget form with an account for each?

Most people can pay for a purchase after obligating themselves to do so. Why not save carrying charges and other costs by paying yourself before making the purchase? In the meantime you may find other real need for the money and it will be earning money for you, too.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN BUNDENSEN, M.D.

A Common Problem

IT used to be that whenever baby began to suck his thumb mother got busy with the stiff cuffs. You couldn't begin too early, she felt, to break up a bad habit.

Today, doctors believe that you can. You can not only begin too early, but, by the wrong methods, you can make the habit worse than it would have been had you left it alone entirely.

Every mother should understand to begin with that so far as baby is concerned, sucking is a natural and instinctive thing. He is given the instinct to suck in order to get his food.

It has been suggested that if that baby's instinct to suck is satisfied at mealtimes, he will care less to suck his thumb and observation tends to bear this out, for babies who take their milk quickly are much more likely to develop thumb-sucking than are those who dawdle a little over their bottles.

If these facts are correct, the best method of keeping the thumb-sucking habit from developing is to provide longer and more frequent opportunities for the baby to nurse.

In the case of the breast-fed baby this would mean letting him nurse as long as he wants to do so, rather than stopping after a prescribed number of minutes. In the case of the bottle-fed baby, if he begins to suck his thumb and is emptying his bottle rapidly, nipples with smaller holes in them may be used on the bottle.

By the time the baby is a year old he no longer sucks his thumb to satisfy the craving for sucking but, rather, he does it as a comforter. Then he is most likely to suck his thumb when he is tired or just before going to sleep.

In the case of a baby two or three years old who has the thumb sucking habit, it is important to make sure that he has enough playthings and room to play; that he is kept busy and active. This in itself may help overcome the thumb-sucking in some cases.

It would appear that many physicians believe that no direct effort should be made to stop the habit by punishment of nagging or keep the child's arms stiff at the elbows so that he cannot get his fingers into his mouth. These things seem only to make the habit worse. If the child is let alone, as time passes the thumb-sucking habit will, as a rule gradually disappear.

Many parents, of course, worry about thumb-sucking because they think it may lead to making the child's teeth crooked, but even this should not lead them into doing those things which will make the thumb-sucking habit worse instead of better.

In other words, it would appear that the best treatment for thumb-sucking is not to pay too much attention to it.

Alger Girl Named Queen at Northern

ADA, O., Oct. 12—In one of the closest, most spirited contests for homecoming queen ever conducted at Ohio Northern university, Virginia Clark of Alger was named homecoming queen.

Posters all over the village, a public address system at the College Inn, parades and a plane showering posters, all campaigned for the girls. The queen candidates on the platform at chapel Thursday morning were introduced to the audience by Roger Rice of Tiltonville, acting president of the inter-fraternity council.

Miss Clark, junior in the college of pharmacy, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Clark. She is president of the Theta Phi Delta sorority. Both parents are graduates of Ohio Northern.

For the first time in the history of the church, the general convention body last night revised upward a budget recommended by the executive board. Delegates increased the 1949 budget from $2,750,000 to $3,000,000.

Must be a pretty smart buy!

We know how great is the desire for new automobiles—how urgent the need for them in many cases.

And we're aware that nearly every make of car these days can point to a long waiting list of folks who have placed their orders.

But when a car hops instantly into "most wanted" position as this Buick did—

When week after week new orders out-pace stepped-up factory production—

Then we figure there must be something far beyond the expected in the car itself.

Something even bigger than stand-out style of the season—a big Fireball straight-eight power plant—the husky, roomy size of two fine-made tons.

What is it? Well, have you handled one of these cars yourself? Have you noticed the happy, almost-starry-eyed look of those who've got theirs?

Fact is — 1946 Buick owners are our best salesmen, and the factory is working with might and main to keep up with the effects of their enthusiasm.

If your order isn't in, you can place it now, for delivery at OPA prices, with or without a car to trade in (though of course we need to get good cars for the used-car buyers on our waiting list).

What Other Car Has So Much That Clicks For Forty-Six!

SMARTNESS — that sets the style pattern with car-length Airfoil fenders and bolt-on rear wheel shields.
POWER — from a Buick Fireball valve-in-head straight-eight engine.
OIL SAVINGS — from non-scuffing Accurite cylinder bores.
PLANING ACTION — of Pilotweight pistons.
STEADINESS — from full-length torque-tube drive in a sealed chassis.
GLIDING RIDE — from Pantherguit all-coil springing.
PROTECTION — of Buick-originated fender-shielding front and rear bumpers.
SURE FOOTING — of Broadrim wheels.
CONTROL — through Permi-firm steering.
CONVENIENCE — of high-leverage Step-On parking brake.
COMFORT — of soft Feamless cushions in roomy Body by Fisher.

Honesty Needs No Apology

SENATOR ROBERT A. TAFT, speaking at Kenyon College last Saturday, went out of his political way to criticize the legal procedure by which the Nuernberg prisoners were tried, convicted and sentenced.

It was not the sort of thing other politicians would do. It made some of them sore and uncomfortable Others grabbed it as an excuse to lambast Taft. It was left for John W. Bricker to say finally what should be obvious in the United States—that Senator Taft was entitled to his opinion and partisan politics had no place in a discussion of legal procedure at Nuernberg

But once more Robert Taft had gone on record with a strong opinion that made a great many Americans angry. Eight years ago when he was an inconspicuous member of the Ohio legislature, he was elected to the United States senate. Today he is one of the most conspicuous men in public affairs, a major power in congress, a leader of public opinion.

Why?

Without knowing what Senator Taft thought of the repercussions of his remarks at Kenyon, it's our hunch he wasn't bothered He had said what he thought. He had cleared his conscience on a matter of public importance. Some people would agree and some would disagree, and that would be all right. That's the way he's been doing it for the last eight years. It seems to work fine.

For instance, when other politicians were hawing and hedging for the support of labor leaders, Senator Taft was qualifying himself as the prime target of abuse for CIO-PAC, which did everything in its power to cut him down in 1941 when he ran for reelection. But in 1946, when other politicians were hell-bent to set up Harry Truman's version of a dictatorship over organized labor during the railroad strike, Senator Taft stepped in unexpectedly to save the labor leaders' bacon. The CIO-PAC is still hacking away at him, which is the highest tribute that could be paid to his integrity, but many labor organization members are beginning to understand that political friendship can be more than vote-deep.

Honesty needs no apology. Senator Taft is a conservative who is open to conviction. He is on the whipping list of the CIO-PAC, but is one of the authors of the Wagner-Ellender-Taft housing bill which CIO-PAC says is its version of a liberal proposal for doing something about the housing shortage. His notion of the proper way for a public figure to behave is to shed light and trust the people to find their own way. He recently told the Alsop brothers, who were preparing an article about him for Life Magazine: "I don't try to supply great moral illumination, or stir people up. There's probably only one man in a generation who can do that. What I do is work out each problem as well as I can, and then if my solution suits other people, they go along."

Running through Senator Taft's public record, one finds many instances where he spoke out when it would have been safe politics to stay quiet. He consistently has gone out of his way to say what was on his mind when there were no votes to be gained by it, but much criticism. In the senate he makes a fetish of being recorded on important issues. In his first season in the senate, when Vic Donahey, Ohio's senior senator at that time, was almost never recorded, the record shows only one lapse for Taft. His knowledge of pending legislation is conceded to be more thorough on more subjects that that of any other senator.

In other words, Senator Taft's present position as a leader in public affairs didn't just happen He worked to get there, and the method he used is more important than where he is, where he was, or where he may be going. This is not a discussion of his political potentialities.

THIS country is suffering from a chronic lack of integrity and purpose in high places, the kind of integrity that drives a man to say what he thinks instead of what will be agreeable to other men.

A representative democracy with two dozen Robert A. Tafts distributed in the right places, to keep the discussion moving and to deflate the windbags when they need it could do less worrying about the competition of dictatorships It could put the Communist bogey in its proper place, by the simple expedient of confronting it with more facts and less applesauce.

Politics could quit giving itself a black eye. The two dozen Tafts all would be as frequently pilloried as the prototype. They would be lampooned and jokes would be made about their caution and stubborn habits. But they would make party government mean something They would make difference between Tweedle-Dee and Tweedle-Dum and do more to restore congressional prestige than a dozen reorganization laws. Politicians who try to be all things to all people and wind up by being nothing to anyone would go out of style.

Senator Taft is doing something for Americans that has needed doing. He is keeping alive the tradition of intellectual honesty that made the late George W Norris of Nebraska respected by even his most vigorous opponents, Outspoken honesty in public life is America's best hope of survival for the long pull

Political Omens in New York

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Huge Registration of Votes Difficult To Fathom.

SOMETHING s happening in New York politics, and nobody knows what to make of it In what was expected to be an apathetic year, a tremendous registration is under way. That doesn't usually happen in off years. In 1940 and 1944, about 6,500,000 voters turned out In 1942, there were only 4,000,000 But in the first two days of the current registration, the figure in New York City run 70 per cent above 1942. In short, if this big registration continues, nearly as many people will vote this year as in a Presidential election. Returned veterans do not account for the difference. Certainly, the PAC is not more efficient It is not due to wild enthusiasm over caandidates.

Ordinarily, a large registration in New York is a Democratic omen. That is why this development is not conducive to Republican over-confidence. But it may be due to anger over meat, Wallace and Palestine, That is what scares Democratic leaders.

Dewey Is Favorite

Aside from this registration uncertainly, it seems clear that Governor Dewey is a definite favorite to beat Senator James M Mead. The Dewey strength this year has been cumulative. A year ago, his reelection was not regarded as sure. The upstate Republican organization is not what it used to be New York City had just restored Tammany rule by a tremendous majority. Labor and left-wing elements were strong.

But in the past six months there has quietly grown up among New Yorkers a realization that Dewey has been an efficient governor. This conviction has come from no spectacular showings such as his previous career as district attorney permitted. It is based upon many evidences of hard and continuous application to prosaic state affairs. Governor Dewey engenders confidence, rather than emotional attachment. The typical street reaction is, "Dewey? Haven't heard much about him, but I guess he's been doing a good job in Albany." It is going to be very hard for Candidate Mead to break down this attitude. Dewey himself tried once to break down a similar public conviction regarding the plodding Governor Lehman. And he failed. Mead will probably likewise fail.

For Dewey's most telling argument is: "Does Senator Mead propose to bring Washington's type of administration to Albany? What has Washington got that we haven't got, except confusion and ineptitude?" This is hard to answer, and Mead is no miracle worker. He is an attractive man chiefly distinguished by undeviating adherence to the late President Roosevelt Mead's campaign is an appeal in the name of the honored dead—in the name of Al Smith and of Franklin Roosevelt. But, as a firend in California said of the Rogers-Knowland fight there, "It is hard to beat a man with a memory."

Senatorial Contest

The senatorial contest is between a man who is not yet known and a man who is almost forgotten. Assembly Leader Irving M. Ives is the Republican candidate. Ex-Governor Herbert H. Lehman, late of UNRRA, is the Democratic candidate. Here, as in the governorship contest, the candidate faces a sharp question "Are you for Wallace or for Truman in foreign affairs?" Lehman can only try to reconcile the two, and that is something they couldn't do for themselves. But he must have the very considerable Wallace following in New York City, which is active and which has powerful newspaper and magazine support.

Not manay congressional seats are at issue. All but six of the 12 districts seem safe beyond peradventure These six are evenly divided between the parties. A big sweep for Dewey might net the Republicans two seats.

A Gallup poll confirms the heavy betting odds for Dewey. In this poll those voters who had made up their minds two weeks ago preferred Dewey by almost three to two. There is nothing in the picture to indicate that Dr. Gallup is wrong. But the heavy registration, as indicated above, is a puzzling factor in any prediction.

He Didn't Realize It Was Getting So Late

A Paterson, New Jersey gent who stepped out for a drink six years and eight months ago has just returned home.

Boy, was he thirsty!

At first, his wife didn't think much about it, figuring maybe he had stopped in at a neighborhood theater to see a double feature.

He left early in January and she really began to worry about half-past June It just wasn't like him to stay out that way till all months of the year.

He couldn't have been so long at the movies . . . not even with bank night.

He was a watch-maker by trade and police feared one of his dissatisfied customers might have given him the works.

But he's back now, with a story of being shanghaied One thing is certain Wherever he spent the past six years, he'll spend the next six explaining.

Soviet Comedy in Korea

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12—Behind the trickle of incomprehensible reports from Korea, there is an astonishing picture in miniature of the Soviet imperialist technique. The bare bones of this technique are revealed in startling (and highly amusing) fashion for the simple reason that the unpracticed Korean Communists are almost pathetically inept

The Communists in the American zone of Korea have not yet, for example, learned to exercise proper care in regard to their secret papers. They are even overeager to follow the instructions of their masters in the Russian zone to the north. One indiscreet Communist leader this summer wrote a carping letter to a leader in another town The letter read in effect as follows: "Our instructions for infiltrating all parties and political organizations come from above, and are therefore wise and not to be questioned. But you are going about it so stupidly that you are endangering the whole operation."

This example of Marxist self-criticism fell into the hands of the American military authorities, and thence found its way into the Korean press. A terrific internal Communist row ensued, and the already splintered southern Korean Communist party was splintered still further. But this indiscretion was only the first of a long series, all duly published in the non-Communist Korean press. The final and most devastating loss of face occurred with the publication of a secret order from the Communist party in the Russian zone, bitterly criticizing the southern Korean Communists for their inexcusable carelessness with secret party papers.

Crude Methods

All this not only entertained the American authorities in our zone of Korea, but also helped them in their patient effort to disentangle the Korean radical movement from the Communists. Its general implications are also more than merely amusing, since the fumblings of the unfortunate southern Korean Communists demonstrate with startling clarity the extent to which local Communist movements are the instruments of Russian expansion No one who has dealt with the Russians in Korea has any doubt at all that they mean sooner or later to take over this strategically important area.

Although their methods are still a trifle inexpert, the Korean Communists, as Communists everywhere, are willing to go to remarkable lengths to serve the ends of their bosses. Last summer the American authorities were attempting to encourage a coalition government, in which the two most important figures were to be Kim Kusik, a moderate, and Yuh Wun Hung, a Leftist leader who had previously been allied to the Communists but had deserted them in disgust For a long time the negotiations were stalled. Finally the American authorities discovered why. Kim and Yuh had long been friends, and had lived together in Shanghai But when Kim's son returned from Shankhai, he had failed to call on Yuh's mother. The slight was intolerable.

Then the Americans prevailed on Kim's son to do the right thing, and the negotiations between Kim and Yuh were resumed on a happier basis. Suddenly they again came to a complete halt. Subsequently the reason emerged. Communist yeggmen had taken Yuh to the top of a high cliff on a dark night. They had kept him teetering nervously on the edge, meanwhile giving him a vivid description of what would happen to him if he consented to join the coalition. This treatment had given Yuh pause. But after further encouragement he courageously resumed the negotiations, which have now been brought to a successful conclusion.

Behind the Comedy

It is also worth considering the peculiar tale of the Communist parade in Korea, of which the American authorities have documentary proof, including photographs. Early this year the unpracticed southern Korean Communist party organized a monster parade had already started, and posed trusteeship of Korea. The parade had already started, and Communist henchmen in front were proudly bearing aloft banners inscribed DOWN WITH TRUSTEESHIP. Then a breathless courier arrived at Communist headquarters from the north. A horrible mistake had been made. Trusteeship was a good thing. The Soviet Union was committed to it. Hastily the remaining banners were revised. The last part of the parade now contradicted the first. Half the banners now read UP WITH TRUSTEESHIP.

Even the relations of Americans and Russians in Korea have their comic aspect. There has been total stalemate since the day when the Soviet Commission (which had in effect demanded that the Americans hand Korea over to the Communists) tipsily entrained for the north some months ago. The "trade" between the two zones, solemnly provided by the Potsdam agreement, now consists of one train a week. Bristling with Balalaikas and tommy guns, it enters our zone and halts. Bottles of chlorine, needed for the southern Korean water, are warily unloaded. Then the ceremony is reversed, when 20 GI's entrain to shove the empty bottles back under the iron curtain.

But behind the comedy there is reality. The reality is, unfortunately, the breakdown of Soviet-American relations as a direct result of Soviet imperialism. It is a grimly unpleasant and ominous reality, and perhaps one should be grateful that there is one place in the world where it has its funny side.

PORTRAIT OF A "LIBERAL"

Reform in Press Conference

By WALTER LIPPMANN

MR. TRUMAN has been seeking advice on how to protect himself against the snares and snarls of his office. He needs it. His unpretentiousness has protected him from the consequences of blunders which would have shaken to its foundations the administration of a stronger president. But he cannot draw too lavishly upon the fund of good will and good nature, of charity and chivalry, which the press and the informed public have, in altogether exceptional degree, felt that they must for compassionate and patriotic reason accord him.

The public interest also demands protection. It needs to be protected against recurrent blunders like the Wallace imbroglio, the entanglement with Mr. Churchill's speech at Fulton, the Crowley fan terminating British lend-lease, and the Tiptonville remarks about the atomic bomb. Mistakes like these are too expensive, and they are wholly unnecessary.

They are due to one very simple but fundamental misconception: Mr. Truman has not realized that the presidency is not a man in the White House. The presidency is an institution, a department of government. No man, however big, can administer the offices of president as the personal enterprise of himself and his cronies. The less he is a big man, the less he can rely upon hunches and chitchat: The more he must fall back upon the organized decision of a staff and of his responsible advisers.

Press Conference Reform

Since Mr. Truman's troubles have developed out of his press conferences, it is but natural that he should be hoping to cure his troubles by reforming his press conferences. There is little doubt that he ought to reform them. As now conducted they are as unsatisfactory as they are dangerous. The President is frequently asked questions which he is unprepared to answer. He may catch the point of the question. Or he may miss the point. He can then give no answer. Or he can make a quick guess. Or he can give the wrong answer. This system is bound to produce the results it so frequently does produce, Not information and understanding but confusion and consternation throughout the world

Yet the remedy is clearly indicated. On the one hand the public must know what the government is doing, and the press must be enabled to report it. On the other hand the President cannt supply that information offhand in answer to questions tossed at him unexpectedly out of a crowd of newspaper men, especially when there will always be some more interested in heckling him than in reporting him. The remedy is to make it a rule that on matters of high policy, touching foreign affairs, the armed forces, government finance, questions should be submitted in writing, and answered when the President has had time to have prepared a considered reply.

There may be some who will say that Mr. Truman cannot do this without confessing that he is less able to cope with the press than was President Roosevelt. But in fact he is less able, and it will cost him less grief to admit it than to deny it. Moreover, as one newspaper man who has been to presidential press conferences over a period of 30 years, I should like to say that even if Mr Truman could imitate Roosevelt, he ought not to try.

Roosevelt's conduct of press conferences became, as time went on, more a form of personal recreation than a means of public education. As he got his exercise in the swimming pool, so he exercised his wits in his press conferences. Less and less came out of them which gave substance to the freedom of the press. More and more they degenerated into persiflage by means of which the President, who was nearly always the victor, would win for himself a few more days of freedom from the inquisitiveness of the press.

Time of Censorship

The notion seems to exist that the fine flower of a free press can be enjoyed only in these catch-as-catch-can interviews, with their uninformed and uninforming answers to unprepared and unconsidered questions—and even then there is a smell of censorship and unfreedom and regimentation in a system of carefully prepared questions answered when the President is able to answer them. But why? Because, I suppose, the delayed answer, though on the whole it would more certainly disclose the facts on the question at issue, would be ghost-written and would, therefore, conceal from the public the qual-

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

The Dog-Wagon Chef

I SING about dog-wagon cooks—
They never read those cooking books
They never heard that food should be Prepared with care to some degree;
They think it is an awful waste
To fit things to the human taste;
They would put up a last-ditch fight
Before they'd cook one morsel RIGHT

II.

"A fried egg" order just means that
An egg must be submerged in fat;
It must be soaked and blitzed about
'Til all the taste of egg is out;
A slow flame, not too hellish hot
Will they consider? They will NOT!...
They think a fried egg quite a joke
Unless it smells of grease and smoke.

III.

"Four minute boiled," you say and they
Will boil it in their own set way:
You ask for scrambled eggs and get
A mess the hen would long regret;
Why is it a dog-wagon chef
To all entreaties is so deaf?
No matter how you plead, he'll make
An egg produce a tummy ache.

IV.

A hamburger" Ah, that's his dish!
He'll make it taste like tuna fish;
He'll put it in a greasy bath...
(Such queer ideas this cook he hath')
He'll pat it and he'll pound it while
Developing his carefree style,
And when he thinks it fit to eat
It will be embers, kid, not meat.

V.

And beef stew' There's a dish, my friend
On which, oh boy, he will unbend;
He'll give his all to see the stuff
Is made of gristle extra tough;
You want some coffee? Then be grim ..
You'll get no coffee real from him!
He'll pour you stuff that tastes like rain,
That's resurrected from the drain!

VI.

Dog-wagon cooks, I think, must take
A pledge to give no guy a break;
A resolution in a book
That they will never learn to cook,
Each year a promise is renewed
To do no good to any food!
A thesis maybe they intone
That man can live by grease alone!

The Last Stand

By TRUMAN TWILL

The trouble started with Tom Sawyer showing off before Becky Thatcher—going through his repertoire of cartwheels, somersaults and headstands.

Our younger generation wanted to know whether the older generation could stand on its head when it was in school, and the older generation said a thing like that, once learned, never is forgotten.

Whereupon the younger generation wanted to be taught. A place was cleared in the living room. Practice, it was pointed out, made perfect. No one could expect to stand on his head the first time. It was a matter of balance. Papa would not demonstrate, but would give advice.

The trick was to keep trying until balance was achieved Place the head so, spread the arms thus, push up with the feet, not too hard but hard enough. Plunk. Too hard that time. Plunk. Not hard enough.

It might be easier with a pillow. The older generation never used a pillow, but that was years ago. The younger generation was soft. Too much indolent living and reading of books.

Now, the hands a little further apart. The theory was to make a tripod of the two hands and the head. The theory, understand. Each person had to make his own application.

No, the older generation would not demonstrate. Do as the older generation says, not as it does. Down with the head. Out with the arms. Up with the body. Wup. Plunk. Too far. Wup. Plunk. Not farenough.

What is going on in there? A few simple gymnastics, things every boy should know. Nothing dangerous. Nothing upset. Eventually, the younger generation must learn, and it is never too soon to start.

Down with the head. A little further back with the arms this time. Spread out the fingers. This time papa will hold up those clumsy feet. Wup. A foot in the mouth is worth two in the eye. Plunk. Papa forgot to hold on.

Look. Do it this way. Watch papa. He will demonstrate. See how he puts his head on the floor. Papa's head is flat on top, hey? Does the younger generation want to learn, or does it want to make remarks?

The head on the floor. The arms outspread. The hands at right angles. The fingers spread. The knees flexed. Then the push. See. Papa is standing on his head. He can shift this way and that way, by waving his feet.

He can shift far to the right, far to the left. Then, when he is through standing on his head he rolls down the back of his neck to his shoulders and comes to his feet, presto. Like leaping over a lamp, breaking a table leg and coming over a lamp, breaking a table leg and doing something very grave to some desiccated tissues in the older generation's back.

As was made clear at the beginning the trouble started with Tom Sawyer. Tom was getting Becky Thatcher's eye by standing on his head before school started one morning Boys have been getting the eye from little girls by doing such things for a long, long time. But nothing like the eye the older generation gets from big girls by forgetting it isn't the younger generation any more. Custer and a former willowy gent whose initials are T. T. now have made their last stand.

The Truth

A Sermonette

By REV. HENRY SCHAEFFER, Ph.D.

Pastor of St. Paul's English Lutheran Church.

John 8:46—"If I say the truth, why do you not believe me?"

* * *

TRUTH is not easy to arrive at. It requires not only patience and experimental skill, but also an open mind and freedom from prejudice. The truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, is so many-sided and comprehensive that we rarely embrace more than a mere segment of it. Even in all its completeness is an ideal rather than a present attainment. It is for this reason that our greatest scientists freely admit that scientific knowledge is never final. At best it is only a stepping stone to further truth; and so the quest for truth goes on and on till the end of time. God alone is in possession of perfect truth. Constituted as we are, we must be satisfied with such truth as we can use and make our own.

I—Truth in Everyday Life

How is truth arrived at in daily life? Truth is something that corresponds to facts. Something happens, for example, that causes a sensation in the community, the state or the nation. Reporters hurriedly get such facts as are available. The average reader wants more than a statement of the bare facts. The result is that the write-up is partly based on facts, rumors and hearsay, and how it looks to the writer himself. This is news and news must be published before the novelty wears off or the reading public may lose interest in the story. But as time goes on other facts are added which enlarge the picture. To get the true story, hearsay and personal opinion must be eliminated. This is not easy. No wonder philosophers speak of objective and subjective truth—truth as it really is and how it looks to us through the medium of our own eyes.

II—Scientific Truth

Truth in the natural sciences is arrived at in a similar way. Take astronomy, for instance. Before there was any astronomy, astrologers or star-gazers gathered such facts as they could with their naked eyes. They could not look far enough nor accurately enough because they had no modern astronomical instruments, and so many of their observations were wrong and misleading. The Ptolemaic theory of the universe was based on wrong assumptions. That the earth stands still, that the sun revolves around the earth, and that the whole universe goes around the earth every day was regarded as true for 1300 years. However, in 1543 Copernicus published his book on the "Revolution of the Heavenly Bodies." The book teaches that the earth rotates daily on its own axis and once a year around the sun. The facts still needed to prove the correctness of these views were furnished by Kepler and Galileo. The latter had invented a telescope. But the people refused to look into it for fear of seeing the satellites of Jupiter upset their old prejudices. They said, "The satellites are invisible to the naked eye and therefore do not exist."

III—Religious Truth

What is religious truth? Are men more eager to accept the facts of religion than they are the facts and theories of astronomy or any other science? No; in fact, they are less prone to accept religious truth than they are the facts of science and social life.

Religion has to do with the convictions of a man's soul and with his views of life and of the world. It deals with spiritual realities. These cannot be stored in a test tube or put in a bottle in the laboratory. We cannot say, Here is a telescope, look into it and you will see God at the other end. No; God is the invisible reality behind and beyond what we can see with our eyes. The only instrument we can use as a measure of life and destiny is the Word of God and our own religious experience. The only touchstone of our lives is the quality of a faith that dares to take the leap from what we know to what we cannot know with our bodily senses.

Some people will not accept the testimony of the Scriptures or of such facts of religion as can be put to the test. If they use the Scriptures at all, it is to misquote and misinterpret what is said. They know nothing about the progressive revelation of Biblical truth. They put the religion of the patriarchs and of Moses and the primitive customs of that early period on a par with the life of Jesus and His conception of religion and life. They quote from anywhere in the Bible in great confusion as if the Old and the New Testaments were on a perfect level. Indeed, there are those who think that the religion of Moses is superior to any other.

This was the mistake made by the people in Christ's day. They were convinced they had the truth and that Jesus of Nazareth could add nothing to that truth, much less sum up in His Person and work what was best in religion. Wrong views of Scripture were partly responsible for that attitude. Then, too, their character is different from that of Jesus. And so they reject His Gospel. As then, so now, some people reject the Gospel because of prejudice, self-complacency or character-traits which cannot be reconciled with the truth as it is in Jesus. The truth about Jesus is that He is the supreme and superlative truth of alltime both as to His teachings and His life. Here is a person who knows the truth about God and man and the world in which we live. He is the answer to man's highest quest for the truth as it is summed up in the life, death and resurrection of Jesus. Christ is that truth, no matter how loud may be the babel of voices clamoring to be heard amid the noise and confusion of a post-war world.

The plan is designed to aid in increasing attendance at Sunday school by giving pupils a blank stamp book with a stamp to be placed for each Sunday in the space allotted for that day. Absence on any particular day may be made up by the pupil bringing someone else with him the next time, and new pupils may catch up on the attendance record by bringing new persons in sufficient number to make up for Sundays that preceded, Rev. Garrison Roebuck, pastor, explained. Plans are being made for a Homecoming and Harvest festival event at the church Oct. 20.

MEN need not perish to be "at rest."

To be mentally at ease, is as important as physical rest. The man who knows that, in all ways possible, he has provided for himself and his family, is indeed "at rest."

Among such provisions a burial plot acquired in advance of need is paramount. NOW is the time for you to examine locations and finance the investment to conform with your budget.

Investigation will reveal to you the ideal locations, moderate prices and plan of payment arranged for your convenience.

Mackenzie Calls Danube Freedom Vital Question

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Freedom of the Danube, which the Paris peace conference has included in the Romanian draft treaty over the fierce objections of the Russian dominated Slavic bloc, is of vast importance to world peace and progress.

The battle which has been raging over this issue represents a major effort by the Western Allies, led by America and Britain, to penetrate the "iron curtain" which divides Europe into two camps.

Dewitt Mackenzie

Whether that effort will succeed along these lines remains in grave doubt, despite the action of the conference. The draft treaty now has to be passed by the council of the Big Four foreign ministers for approval — and approval must be unanimous in order to stick. If Russia vetoes the Danubian clause, out it goes.

U. S Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, in fighting for this clause, put the matter thus:

The United States delegation "believes a free Danube is indispensable to the economic health and therefore to the peace of central Europe. The United States has no direct commercial interest of its own in the Danube."

But the larger problem of the general peace and of the responsibility of every nation in this conference is substantially related to the avoidance of international trade barriers which incite discrimination and dangerous frictions."

Slavs Object

Both Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov and Edvard Kardelj of Yugoslavia rejected the arguments of Senator Vandenberg and British Foreign Minister Bevin with strong words. The former charged in effect that the capitalistic nations were trying to establish economic imperialism in the Danubian theater.

And why all this fuss and feathers over a river? To the world at large the Danube is associated mainly with the name of a lovely and imperishable waltz. Romance tells us this great waterway is blue, and he would indeed be a sorry fellow who was prosaic enough to present factual arguments to controvert that. Your correspondent who knows it well can at least testify that at times it is bewitching.

More to the point is the fact that the Danube—second largest river in Europe—provides a water highway through the heart of the continent and washes the boundaries of eight nations, including Soviet Russia. The other seven are Germany, Austria, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Yugoslavia, Romania and Bulgaria. Of this Senator Vandenberg said:

"It is historically clear that Danubian commerce cannot prosper if it is at the mercy of various uncoordinated, restrictive or discriminatory administrations which respond to the local requirements of the eight national jurisdictions through which the Danube flows."

Flows 2,000 Miles

The Danube rises in the Black Forest hills of Baden, Germany, and flows 2,000 miles to the Black sea. It is connected with the Rhine tributaries by the Ludwigs-Kanal, and these two rivers provide communication between the North and the Black seas. Only small craft at present can make the full course, but larger ships navigate the lower reaches of both rivers.

A huge amount of commerce moves over the Danube and it is an integral part of the economic life of that part of Europe. But it is more than that, for in time of war it provides a strategic water route for military operations. During both World Wars there were great troop movements in the theater, and heavy fighting. The Danube has been urged with the crimson of many other conflicts through the centuries.

An international Danube navigation commission was established in 1856 and the navigation of the river was declared free to all nations. Barring the duration of the First World War the river remained open until Germany withdrew from the commission in 1936 and later took complete control, through domination of central Europe.

Now the Danube again has been closed off by the Slavic bloc unless the Big Four foreign ministers accept the Danubian clause in the Romanian treaty, the mighty river will remain sequestered.

MARION PARATROOP VETERAN REENLISTS

Donald R. Wilson, Wounded 3 Times, Back in Service.

A veteran of several years of service with a paratroop outfit, and holder of the purple heart with oak leaf cluster for wounds suffered during European campaign, Donald R. "Dick" Wilson, son of Marion residents, has reenlisted. This word came recently to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Wilson of 518 North Prospect street. Young Wilson was with the 504th Paratroopers and received his discharge from service a year ago in September. He worked for a time in Marion, then went to Cleveland for employment, where he suffered a hand injury and lost two fingers.
In the campaigns of North Africa, Sicily, Anzio and the Remagen bridge in Germany, he suffered wounds three times. At the time of his discharge, he held the rank of sergeant. From Indiantown Gap, Pa., where he is at present, he will go soon to Ft. Benning, Ga., he informed his family, then will go overseas. He hopes to join a brother in Japan, his father stated.
The brother, Capt. Robert Wilson, with the 11th Airborne division, is stationed on an island close to Japan and wrote his family that he has been scheduled to make an inspection tour of troops through several islands, and will fly to Tokyo for similar work soon. In service five years, he has been in Japan since January.

Employ the Handicapped Week Successful; To Be Continued

Fred B Scherff, manager of the Marion United States Employment Service office, said today Marion's observance of National Employ the Physically Handicapped week must continue after this week.

Because employers are cooperating to the extent that they not only will employ a physically limited worker with proper qualifications to fill a vacancy that exists in their establishment but are attempting to find positions in which workers with physical limitations can be used, additional time must be allowed, the employment manager stated. In many cases transfers of workers are necessary as well as the following of certain regulations such as posting of jobs within the shop for a definite time and with due regard to seniority, Mr. Scherff said.

Robert T. Mason, vice president of the Marion Chamber of Commerce, stated the observance of National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week was worthy of all the cooperation employers are showing in the placing of workers with limited physical ability. He further stated that while the primary reason for the "week" was to enlist public support for employment of the handicapped, the basic reason for the observance was, he felt, to call to public attention the conditions and needs of the physically handicapped in such understandable terms that henceforth there would be growing understanding and public acceptance of the handicapped as integral parts of our economic and social life.

23 Now Placed

The qualifications of 22 physically limited applicants registered with the USES have been placed with employers who are attempting to locate positions within their establishments for these workers, thirteen actual referrals of handicaps have been made and 7 placed. Mr. Scherff further commented that he was confident that the results of the efforts expended this week in attempting to secure employment for handicapped workers would show themselves in weeks to come because it takes time to find jobs on which the remaining abilities of the physically limited workers can be used because of the many points which must be considered in analyzing the applicant's capacities with the requirements of the jobs.

In the employment service, this analyzation is known as selective placement. Through this process, the applicant's ability is emphasized and not his handicap. The approach is positive—the term "unemployable" is never used—everyone is considered as able to work at some level of skill although not always under competitive conditions. Disabilities in terms of physical capacities are evaluated, and physical demands of jobs and physical capacities of applicants are appraised. Mr Scherff further explained that the placement of physically limited workers is a slow process, but much satisfaction is derived when a physically limited worker is placed on a position where he can again be of use in the economic and industrial life of the nation which results in a happy rehabilitated individual.

GARBAGE HAULERS WARNED BY SHERIFF

Declares County Regulation Will Be Enforced.

The Marion county sheriff's office served warning today that the ordinance against hauling rubbish and garbage without a permit, passed by the county board of health last April, will be enforced.

Rose M. Morgan of Waldo was fined $10 and costs in municipal court today when she pleaded guilty to a charge of hauling garbage without a permit. She was cited by the sheriff's department Wednesday.

She was the first to be arrested under the ordinance. Sheriff's officials said she hauled the garbage, her own, in her car and dumped it in a field by the side of the road.

The state law provides a maximum penalty of $100 and costs and 30 days in jail for the offense. Sheriff's officials said the ordinance will be enforced primarily to prevent indiscriminate dumping of garbage.

Permits may be obtained from the county board of health for $1.

The Communists had insisted they would not return to the peace table until the government called off its drive on Kalgan, a city of even greater strategic value than their political capital at Yenan.

The duke wore a pinkish shirt with tie to match, a fawn-colored pullover sweater, a sports jacket with loud checks and sloping pocket slits, and slacks—daring attire in a country devoted to sartorial sobriety.

The American-born duchess was smartly clad in a silver grey suit with black edging and black buttons.

The Windsors, who arrived late yesterday from Paris on their first visit together to England since 1939, expected to remain a month before going to America.

The couple's arrival, meanwhile, inspired a crop of new rumors concerning the duke's future. A London dispatch to the Rome Espresso said the duke would be named ambassador to Italy. The foreign office commented, however, that "nothing like that seems to be in the wind."

VA TRIES TO LIMIT VET HOUSING LOANS

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Oct. 12 — The veterans' administration is trying to administer the GI home loan program in such a way as to keep veterans from buying homes which are priced too high, housing officials were told today.

Thomas J. Sweeney, assistant director of the loan guarantee service in the veterans administration, described the policy in an address prepared for delivery at the convention of the National Association of Housing Officials. He appeared in place of Gen. Omar Bradley, veterans administrator.

"Our intent is to keep appraisals of 'reasonable value' within the bounds set by reproduction costs for newer structures," said Sweeney, referring to the home appraisals made before the administration guarantees a portion of the loan for the veteran.

"Current conditions have made us more and more careful of our selection of VA 'designated appraisers' from whom lending institutions must obtain an approval of 'reasonable value.' We are trying to be zealous as well as just in the removal of appraisers from our VA list when their appraisals are found to be excessive," said Sweeney.

Approval of French Constitution Predicted

By The Associated Press

PARIS, Oct. 12—Most observers predicted today France would approve the proposed new French constitution in tomorrow's referendum despite Gen. Charles De Gaulle's grim warning that it would imperil the nation's future.

A few analysts felt De Gaulle's opposition to the new basic law drafted for the Fourth Republic—the second try this year—has given the referendum such an aspect of a plebiscite on his behalf that the result could not be foretold.

The majority predictions were based on the assumption that the voters would new closely to party lines. If this proved to be completely true, the charter would be adopted by 15,000,000 "yes" votes, against 5,000,000 "no" ballots.

CLEANUP STARTS AT BUCYRUS FIRE SCENE

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, Oct. 12—Work was delayed by heavy rain Friday in cleaning debris from around the heating plant and boilers of the Mader building, destroyed by fire Wednesday night. LIMA SOUTH SNOWS HARDING PRESIDENTS UNDER 31-0

Tigers Prove Selves Masters of Situation from Opening Gun

By GEORGE ROEST

Lima South thoroughly defeated the Harding Presidents 31 to 0 last night at Lima before a crowd of approximately 5,500.

Establishing themselves as masters of the situation from the outset the Tigers scored twice in the first quarter and once in each remaining period. A peneration to the Lima 40 in the second quarter was the only time the Prexies were able to get into enemy territory. How one-sided the affair was can be readily seen by comparing the 187 net yards gained rushing by the Lima club against a mere net of 15 yards for Harding. In aerial statistics Harding fared a little better, netting 52 yards against 48 for Lima.

Although the Harding passing gained more than the ground maneuvers, six of the 19 passes thrown were intercepted, the results being costly to the Presidents. Six passes were completed leaving only seven to fall short of a receiver. Lima completed three passes and had two intercepted out of nine attempted.

Receiving the kickoff and starting their drive on their own 32, Lima scored early in the first quarter when fullback Schiffer cracked the Harding line and broke away for an 18-yard dash to pay dirt.

Lima scored again in the first quarter when, after recovering a Harding fumble on the Marion 30, they got to the 32 and quarterback Thomas on a quick opening play raced through the Prexie secondary to the goal line.

In the second period lefthalf Nichols added his name to the list of scorers, skirting right end for the necessary four yards. Creig converted.

Thomas scored again in the third quarter, plunging for one yard. The play was set up by an 18-yard pass Nichols to Bassinger.

In the final quarter Thomas was stopped a fraction of an inch from the goal line after carrying from the nine. Substitute back Myers scored the six points.

South Wins Toss

South won the toss and elected to receive. Huddle kicked to Nichols who ran from the eight to the Lima 32. Severns made four. Nichols gained six and a first down. Severns gained one. Nichols went two to the Lima 46 Phillians smeared Thomas for a six-yard loss. Schiffer punted from the 41 to Tillis for a five-yard runback to the Prexie 40.

Tillis lost five. Hill gained one. Hill made three to the Harding 39. Tillis punted from his own 39 to Thomas on the Lima 33 who made a 13-yard runback.

Nichols and Severns combined for six. An offside penalty put the ball on Harding's 42. Schiffer went for 15. Nichols made nine to Harding's 18. Schiffer went through center for a score Nichols' kick was bad.

Creig kicked to Bishop on the Harding 10 for a 13-yard runback. Harding fumbled on their 30 and Brogie recovered. Severns went for eight. An offside penalty was called on Lima. Creig gained to the Marion 26. Schiffer made four. Thomas scored on a quarterback sneak from the 22. Running for the extra point Schiffer fumbled.

Hill Makes Run

Hill ran Creig's kick from the 16 to the 32. Tillis gained five. Hill made three. Huddle gained one. Harding punted twice but both were called back because of penalties as the quarter ended.

Attempting the third punt Tillis was downed on his own 17. Nolfi, Harding's captain, pounced on a Lima fumble on the 15. A pass Rea to Phillians was good for four. Rea lateraled to Hill who made four around left end. Hill crashed for 21 yards. Tillis dropped one yard. Rea's pass intended for Andrews was incomplete. Rea fumbled when he attempted to pass and Williams recovered for Lima on Harding's 27.

Schiffer made 10. Thomas went to the 10. Schiffer bucked to the Harding four and a first down. Nichols swept right end for the touchdown. Creig converted making it 19 to 0.

CABBIES TIE INTO BOMBERS TONIGHT

Dayton Colored Gridders Here in Rough Engagement.

Really picking some tough opposition for their first season as a ball club, the Safety Cab A. C.'s have scheduled a game with the Dayton Bombers tonight at 8:30 p. m. at Harding Stadium. The Bombers are an all-colored outfit which is regarded as one of the best semi-pro outfits from the city of airfields.

The Dayton team has been together for several years gaining quite a reputation for turning in crack performances. The Cabbies on the other hand have had but three games in which to build themselves up as a steller outfit.

In their first contest with Mansfield the team could offer nothing but a good defense, holding the visitors to a 0 to 0 draw. The next day the team traveled to Galion and dropped one 19 to 0 in a no holds-barred clash. After that Coach Fetter announced that he had something up his sleeve and sure enough his gridders set the Alliance team back 19 to 0.

Fetter's backs who for a while hadn't been able to get started showed some of that form which made them high school idols and the line looked just as good as ever in holding the fleet Alliance backs when it became necessary. Also it was the line which was responsible for the first Cabbie score.

The report on the Dayton club is that it is light but fast and plays an exceedingly hard game of football. The conflict will probably be of the wide open variety since both teams are advocates of the razzle dazzle style of playing. The Cabbies waited until the last quarter to pull any trick plays against Alliance and their final deception clinched the victory.

SNATCHES OF SPORTS

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

BOSTON, Oct. 12—Now that the Cardinals have squelched that "minor league" talk they've been hearing ever since the All-Star game, you can begin looking forward to quite a tussle when the real minors stage their annual get-together in December. The minors may stage a rebellion against big league domination through the commissioner's office, according to a man who knows his way around the minors, if Judge W. G. Bramham decides to retire as head of the national association . . . the judge hasn't given any real hint so far, but our informant believes Bramham will step down if the association requests it and that many of the association members believe the guy who led them through hard times deserves a rest at $10,000 per year . . . the catch is that the big major league "chain gang" operators might get together to handpick a successor. And in that case the judge might get his dander up and refuse to resign or the numerous small leagues might find a leader who would take them on an entirely independent course . . .

When Bob Margarita showed up at Harvard this fall, to take a job as assistant to football coach Dick Harlow, Dick asked how come he has quit pro football. "It was this way," Bob explained. "I got so after a hard scrimmage or rough game, I'd come home at night and shake my head. When it started to rattle, I quit."

TIP BIG 9 OKAYS ROSE BOWL 5-YEAR TIEUP

Unofficial Pole Shows 5 to 4 Vote for Approval.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 12 — A 5-4 majority vote approving the Western conference's tieup with the Pacific Coast conference in a five-year plan for representation in the Rose Bowl was indicated today, but there was no official vote announced.

Although Illinois' faculty senate has disapproved the agreement in the only definite action announced thus far, Ohio State, Michigan, Indiana, Iowa have unofficially voiced their approval with Wisconsin showing indications of joining the affirmative side to make the required majority.

Northwestern was considered on the "borderline" with its faculty committee scheduled to meet early next week for a decision. Purdue and Minnesota were expected to join Illinois on the negative although their faculty men have yet to meet to vote on the matter.

At Wisconsin, football coach Harry Stuhldreher indicated he would recommend to the athletic board acceptance of the plan. He said "there is a lot of merit in Western conference participation in Rose Bowl games."

The five-year plan would put a Big Nine team against the Pacific Coast conference representative for three successive years and approve "outsiders" for the next two years, with Southern teams excluded.

Irish Fathers' Day Program Marred by One-Point Loss

Father's night presentation for the members of St. Mary's football team was marred by a 7-6 loss to Marysville last night at Harding stadium and the Terriers were dropped from a tie-lead in the Mid-State league.

Fumbling ruined scoring opportunities for the Irish who finally managed to hit pay dirt in the closing minutes of the game. The Fettermen's first chance came on the first play of the game when St. Mary kicked off and recovered on the Marysville 37 yard line only to lose possession on the second play.

Irish Defense Shattered

The Marysville Monarchs took over and unleashed a ground attack that netted three straight first downs and completely shattered the Irish line defense.

In the opening minutes of the second quarter, Mannie Rogers, the Monarchs stellar quarterback, whipped a 25 yard pass to right end Jack McGuire who took the ball on the 40 yard line and raced to the Terrier goal line untouched. The Marysville conversion was good and proved to be the winning margin.

Line defensive play by the Marysville team stopped consistent every effort to gain ground as Jim Schuler in his end runs, Ed Murphy, substitute for Jim Balcauf who was out of the Irish lineup because of injuries, smashed the Terrier ground attack while gains through center and off-tackle.

The crowd of 1,500 persons were entertained at half-time by the snappy Marysville band and Coach Fetter presented the members of his team and their fathers who sat with their sons on the sidelines.

Marysville in Control

In the second half the Marysville eleven controlled the ball most of the time until the Irish began its march by a series of off-tackle slices by Ed Murphy. The St. Mary attack was assisted by a number of penalties imposed upon the Monarchs and the Irish.

Gordon Traded To Cleveland for Reynolds

2nd Sacker for Pitcher Deal Seen as Start of Yank Shakeup

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 12 — The long-expected shakeup in the ranks of the New York Yankees, baseball's scourge of the baseball world, has started in earnest.

In a surprise announcement at midnight the Yankees announced they had traded Joe "Flash" Gordon, star second baseman, to the Cleveland Indians for Allie Reynolds, a 27-year-old righthanded pitcher who won 11 games and lost 8 the past season.

The Yanks also sent Joe Edwards Bockman, a rookie third baseman to the Indians for an undisclosed amount of cash and players to be announced later. Bockman trained with the Yanks at Panama last spring before being shifted to the club's Kansas City farm in the American Association.

Follows Dickey Resignation

The deal, apparently made by Larry MacPhail, president of the Yanks and Bill Veeck, president of the Indians, at the World Series in Boston, follows the unexpected resignation of Bill Dickey as manager in the closing days of the season. Dickey has succeeded Joe McCarthy at the helm in May.

Speculation on other Yankee trades has long existed. One rumor is that centerfielder Joe DiMaggio has been offered to the Red Sox in a trade for Ted Williams. MacPhail has made no official comment on that. Neither has he indicated who will succeed Dickey. Coach Johnny Neun finished out the season as manager.

In Reynolds the Yanks have obtained a pitcher known as a "fireballer." A native of Bethany, Okla., he came up to Cleveland from Wilkes-Barre, Pa. of the Eastern league in 1943 and in his first season led the American league in strikeouts with 151.

51 Wins, 47 Defeats

His major league career, including this season, shows 51 victories against 47 defeats. During 1947 he appeared in 31 games, pitched 174 innings, yielded 181 hits and hurled three shutouts. He fanned 106 and walked 107. His best year was 1945 when he won 18 and lost 12 with an earned run average of 3.13.

Gordon, who entered the armed service after the 1943 World Series when his sparkling play helped the Yanks whip the St. Louis Cardinals, had the worst season of his major league career during 1946. He batted only .210, although driving in 48 runs.

His lifetime major league batting average (before 1946) was .278 and he had his best season mark of .322 in 1942. He is a native of Los Angeles and will be 32 in February.

3 OHIO GRID TEAMS CHALK UP VICTORIES

By The Associated Press

Wittenberg, Xavier and Rio Grande won the only college football games in Ohio Friday night—the first of the season to be played on rainy, sloppy gridirons.

Wittenberg's Lutherans steamrollered the Wilmington Quakers at Wilmington 39-0; Xavier University's Musketeers edged John Carroll of Cleveland 7-6 at Cincinnati, while Rio Grande nosed out Marietta college 7-6 at Marietta.

At Chicago, Wilberforce university was tagged for its first defeat of the season by Tuskegee Institute of Alabama, 14-7; and at Franklin, Ind., Defiance college tamed the Franklin Grizzlies 15-6.

Nearly 5,000 fans sat in a drizzle to watch Xavier score its first 1946 victory. Taking a poor kick on their own 33, the Musketeers advanced to Carroll's 33 on a pass from Bob McQuade to John Donalie. Halfback Murray Redmon smashed through tackle for the first-quarter touchdown. Donadio booted the point.

Halfback Regis Longville took a lateral for 20 yards late in the final stanza and three plays later passed to end Ed Posipanka for 20 yards more and the visitors' only score.

Miami Seahawks Break Into Victory Column

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 12 — The Miami Seahawks have finally edged into the victory column after five starts in All-America conference football, leaving the Buffalo Bisons the only remaining winless team in the new circuit.

The Seahawks did it the hard way, scoring a field goal with only one minute and 45 seconds of play remaining in their game at Buffalo last night to edge out the Bisons, 17-14.

In the conference debut at Brooklyn, the Dodgers battled to a 21-21 tie with the surging Chicago Rockets before 16,211 fans at Ebbets field. A 64-yard forward-lateral play in the waning moments of the game enabled the Rockets to deadlock the score.

Tonight's schedule:
Cleveland at New York.
San Francisco at Los Angeles.

Don Ledman carried the ball on five trips into pay dirt after long runs by teammates had brought the ball in scoring territory. Long runs made on reverse plays were LaRue's chief weapon. Claridon was unable to gain on the ground but Jim Ruth slipped behind the winners defense for passes to score twice. Next Friday LaRue will entertain Clyde on the home field. Lineup:

Ann Arbor and Dallas Share Honors as U. S. Sports Capitals

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 12—Ann Arbor, Mich., and Dallas, Tex., divide the honors today as temporary sports capitals of the nation.

With baseball politely stepping aside pending resumption of the World Series tomorrow, football takes the spotlight and provides the country's two top attractions in Army-Michigan and Texas-Oklahoma.

There are plenty of other ace drawing cards—like U. C. L. A.-Stanford, Penn-Dartmouth, Columbia-Yale and Minnesota-Northwestern—but most attention on this big grid Saturday is centered on the fortunes of Texas and Army, currently ranking No. 1 and No. 2 teams in the country.

The unbeaten Longhorns, heartened by the draft holiday which assures them of the services of Bobby Layne for the season, go into Dallas' big Cotton Bowl to meet the surging Oklahoma Sooners, acclaimed by Army as the toughest team the Cadets have met in three years.

Army In Stern Test

Army, displaced by Texas at the top of the nation's first ten, faces its sternest test in Michigan. The Cadets, seeking victory number 22, are reinforced by the return of Doc Blanchard, but they meet a Wolverine club that is three deep and solid in every position. A turnout of 85,000 is expected.

At Los Angeles, the first crucial battle of the Pacific Coast season unfolds when U.C.L.A. meets Stanford. Both are unbeaten.

Philadelphia's Franklin Field and the Bowl at New Haven are the epicenters in the east, with better than 50,000 expected for the Penn-Dartmouth clash and a sellout 65,000 assured for the Yale-Columbia meeting.

O.S.U. Begins Loop Tour

In the midwest, Ohio State makes its Western conference debut at Madison with Wisconsin. Northwestern is out for its second straight against once-beaten Minnesota, and Illinois meets the defending Big Nine champion, Indiana. Notre Dame has a breather in Purdue, Mississippin meets Kansas State, undefeated Kansas tries Iowa State and Nebraska meets Iowa in a Big Six-Big Nine duel.

Two Southwest conference teams meet two Southeastern conference elevens when Rice faces Tulane and Texas A. and M. is entertained by Louisiana State.

Southern Methodist and Oklahoma A. and M. met in Dallas last night before 28,000 fans. Led by freshman Frank Payne, S.M.U. triumphed over the Aggies, 15-6.

Brecheen Stands Between Sox and 1946 World Title

By The Associated Press

ENROUTE-TO-ST. LOUIS, Oct. 12—Harry (The Cat) Brecheen stands between the Boston Red Sox and the 1946 World Championship as the travel-weary baseball caravan heads back to Sportman's Park.

Out in front of the St. Louis Cardinals by a 3-2 margin in games, Joe Cronin's Sox need but one more victory to clinch the big prize.

That one victory must be earned tomorrow over Brecheen, a crafty lefthander who holds a 3-0 series shutout, or the decision will be hanging in the balance until a seventh game is played Tuesday.

Cronin has listed an "either or" pitching selection, refusing to go any further than to say it will be Mickey Harris or Dave (Boo) Ferriss.

In Driver's Seat

Boston climbed back into the driver's seat on yesterday's 6-3 win as three Red Sox players who had not figured prominently in pre-series discussion wrapped up the fifth game all by themselves. Joe Dobson, an overlooked starting pitcher, threw a four-hitter in copping his first series effort.

Don Gutteridge, a last minute sub for the ailing Bobby Doerr, came up with two big hits, one of which drove home the tie-breaking run in the second inning and Leon Culberson, an added starter in right field, smashed a home run that gave Dobson a more comfortable working margin in the sixth.

Howie Pollet didn't have a thing and was hammered off the hill in one third of an inning after allowing three hits and one run. Some effective relief pitching by Al Brazle was all that saved the Cards from a first-inning rout. As it was they tied up the game in their half of the second but once Boston grabbed the lead in its half of the same frame, it was evident to most of the 35,692 spectators that it was not going to be a St. Louis day.

Williams Comes Through

Ted Williams drove in his first run of the series with a first-inning single that knocked out Pollet and Gutteridge scored Ray Partee with the tie-breaking tally in the second provoking quite an argument.

Partee slid into the plate as rookie catcher Joe Garagiola took Terry Moore's peg and lunged at him, trying for a tag. Plate Umpire Lee Ballanfant ruled Partee safe and Garagiola protested bitterly. Even Dyer, who seldom wrangles with umpires, kicked up a fuss after Garagiola showed him spike marks on his left forearm.

It was a big run, for the Birds had tied the score in the top of the second on Harry Walker's double to left following Johnny Pesky's two-base error on Joe Garagiola's grounder. Walker drove home all three runs, the other two with a ninth-inning single.

Following Culberson's clout in the sixth, the Sox applied the crusher in the seventh with a three-run blast on doubles by Dom DiMaggio and Pinky Higgins, two intentional walks and a two-base error by Marty Marion on a wild throw.

LOCAL AUTOS SET TO RACE AT MARYSVILLE

Cars owned by Harold "Monk" McCurdy of Marion will participate in auto races tomorrow at Marysville. Dreyer-powered racers driven by Bob Simpson and George Sablen will be out to take the 25-lap Marysville Sweepstakes at the Union county fairgrounds in the feature event of the day's program.

Also on the card tomorrow are three elimination runs, a helmet dash and a consolation race. Time trials begin at noon while the events are slated to get underway at 2 p. m.

Simpson has been driving for McCurdy most of this season while Sabien first drove last Sunday at Ashland. Simpson placed second last week in the Tri-State championship races and Sabien placed fifth.

Others entered in the events are Mike Salay of South Bend, Ind.; Harry King; Shorty Drexler of Columbus and Billy McGee of Newark.

The races are sponsored by the Buckeye Speedways.

The story in the former is of a young girl who marries an attractive doctor after a whirlwind courtship, and then learns that he is a quack physician and a dangerous husband. The latter is the amusing story of a successful playwright, played by James Stewart, whose relations with his wife, played by Rosalind Russell, are affected when he falls under the influence of a glamorous blonde.

The romantic young American with whom Miss Freeman falls in love is played by Richard Denning. However, she realizes that he looks upon her as a child rather than a woman. Giving screen life to the most famous horse in all literature is Highland Dale, who was selected from among a large number of horses for the title role in the picture.

"Caesar and Cleopatra" In Technicolor on Palace Bill

"Caesar and Cleopatra," the spectacular technicolor film version of the play written by Bernard Shaw, stars Vivien Leigh and Claude Rains in the title roles. This picture will be shown Sunday through Wednesday at the Palace theater.

Vivien Leigh plays Cleopatra, a glamorous Egyptian queen at the age of sixteen. She is pictured as a frightened child, in fear of the great Caesar and his powerful legions who have entered Egypt. Her youth and beauty, combined with ambition, enchant Caesar from his first unexpected meeting with her in the shadow of the Sphinx. Therefore he promises to help her ascend the throne of Egypt in the place of her young brother, Ptolemy.

In his story, Bernard Shaw portrays Julius Caesar as a charming, humorous and considerate mediator of the affairs of a divided Egypt, and not as the ruthless conqueror in history books. Supporting roles are played by Stewart Granger, Flora Robon, Basil Sydney, Cecil Parker and Francis L. Sullivan.

Short features will include a technicolor short, "Goal Rush," plus the latest Paramount News.

A double feature, "The Thrill of Brazil" and "Blondie Knows Best," is the billing for Thursday through Saturday. The latest Paramount News will also be shown.

Starred in the former are Keenan Wynn, Evelyn Keyes, Ann Miller, Allyn Joslyn and Tito Guizar. Keenan Wynn is cast as Steve Farraugh, manager and producer of a revue at a hotel in Rio de Janeiro, who is still carrying a torch for his ex-wife, played by Evelyn Keyes. She has come to Rio to obtain Steve's signature on the final divorce papers. Through various means, Steve forces her to stay in Rio for a time, until things are finally settled between them.

In the latter, Penny Singleton plays Blondie and Arthur Lake, Dagwood, with Larry Simms as Alexander and Marjorie Kent as Cookie. Once again, Dagwood finds himself up to his neck in trouble. It all begins when he wrecks his new neighbor's garage and finds himself with a judgement suit on his hands.

That is the only real objection I can think of. It can be met. Questions of high policy that concern the security and vital interests of the nation could be given prepared answers after due notice. There would remain the whole field of domestic politics and internal policy in which we can still exercise that special freedom, unique among the democracies but well worth its cost, of compelling our men to appear before us as they are when they are unprotected and naked.

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

"IT has been long—so long!" Sam Brixton's weary voice went on. "I don't know why I've kept the things, when it seemed that everybody concerned had vanished from the face of the earth.

"But of course the contents of the suitcase—some of them—are very valuable," he explained. "It seemed criminal to destroy them. They were a sort of insurance against another financial disaster such as the one from which you saved me."

"I don't know what it all means," he reiterated. "Only two or three people in the world could tell. But, in some way, it has become vital now, and somebody—somehow—found out that I had it."

Beads of Moisture

His voice was weakening, and the beads of moisture were on his forehead again.

I rose from my chair, and put my hand on his trembling ones.

"You do not have to think about it any more, Sam," I told him. "When I have given this to my father—he has the other things in safe-keeping—he will take over the task of finding out what it all means. When we get out to the farm, he may wish to question you, but you do not need to fear his questions. Now please try to rest for the few minutes left before we start for the farm."

As if the words had been a signal, Katharine and Dr. Twitchell came into the room, and I gave Sam's poor tortured hands a tender, reassuring grip.

At the Farm

"Good-bye for now," I said. "I'll see you at the farm, if I do not travel out there in the same car with you."

I turned, to see Katherine's eyes, with a mischievous glint in them, looking at me.

"No such luck," she murmured, as I passed her, and it was with distinct uneasiness that I went into the hall, to find "Mr. K." still standing like a sentinel on guard.

"Your father wishes to see you in his office," he said. "I am to go down to the boys' room."

I knew what he meant without asking him, and I would not have put the question anyway. The caravan was about to start, and his was the most important task, that of getting Jack Bickell, disguised so that neither the Brixtons nor any one else could recognize him, into one of the cars.

Invariable Outlet

I hurried down to my father's office, and found him pacing the floor, his invariable outlet in stress of any kind.

"You are ready to start?" he queried, when I had come into the room.

"In one minute," I said. "I have to collect my hat, bag and coat from your room."

"You may have more than sixty seconds," he said. "But when you leave here, please collect your belongings, and then go down to the room which houses Helena and Carolyn Brixton.

"I am sorry," he said, and I was conscious that my "tell-tale face" had registered my dismay at this announcement. "I am afraid that I must send you with Helena and Carolyn and the boys in one of the cars, under proper guard, of course.

"I will be with you," he said, and I caught my breath in relief, "and if you wish, I can take Mrs. Holland out with us."

Will Behave

"There will be no necessity for that," I said, "as long as you are in the car. I can manage Carolyn, and with your authority in evidence, Helena will behave herself."

"My authority will be in evidence, never fear," he said dryly. "Now I will tell you about the other car, so that you will not be surprised. It will hold Sam Brixton, on a stretcher, Dr. Twitchell, Katharine, and 'Mr. K.,' as passengers, and Jack, in the uniform of a police officer. I have just seen him, and his makeup is perfect. I will have one of our own men wearing a similar uniform, in your car, so Helena and Carolyn will not have their curiosity aroused.

"Now, one more thing. Katharine said Sam asked to see you alone. Did he tell you anything I ought to know?"
